

diversity training developing a culturally responsive and inclusive workforce

The power of diversity

We live in a vibrant multicultural community, with one in four Australians born overseas.

By harnessing this diversity, your organisation can develop a culturally responsive and inclusive workforce which will:

- Enhance service delivery
- Support recruitment and retention of high performing staff from diverse backgrounds
- Nurture innovative solutions through diverse perspectives
- Increase reach to a diverse client base
- Make diversity a competitive advantage
- Achieve diversity goals and benchmarks

This training exceeded my expectations. Very insightful. I thought I had a good understanding of culture and disability but this was great to challenge and expand my knowledge.'
