

Finding careers for refugees living with injury, illness or disability

Turn to the team that understands refugee experiences

We help people from refugee backgrounds who are living with injury, illness or disability find work that suits their skills and goals.

Here's how we help:

- One-on-one help from friendly staff who understand different cultures and languages
- Support for all areas of life, not just work
- Help to get ready for a job, find work and settle in
- Strong links with local employers and communities built over 25 years

Getting started

Fill in an application form to begin your journey — even if you're with another provider or haven't completed an assessment with Services Australia yet.
