Tracking

Tracking, also known as stalking, is when someone monitors or harms someone else. They can use technology as a tool to do this. Some of the common technologies that are used as tools for this are phones and laptops.

Tracking is a crime and can be reported to the police. Criminal behaviour includes stalking, sending threatening emails, and texts (harassment), using tracking apps and spyware without consent, as well as online bullying.

Overview

You will watch a short video to explore the topic of tracking and use the questions provided to reflect on it.

Objectives

- Understand what impact tracking can have.
- Understand the personal, social, and legal impacts of tracking.
- Know where to get help and support.

Background to the story

22-year-old Dina lives with her husband, Ali. They have been married for two and a half years and arrived in Australia two years ago. Dina and Ali have no children. Dina and Ali are in Australia on working visas.

Tracking

Scene 1 - Discussing

Dina is sitting in her lunchroom. She is obviously scared and upset and is receiving a lot of text messages. Her manager and friend, Vanessa, is talking with her and trying to find out from Dina if she is okay.

Q 1: What do you think is happening here?

Reflection:

Think about what is occurring. Is this acceptable? Consider if a husband has a right to know where his wife is.

Q 2: Is it okay for Ali to send so many texts to Dina?

Reflection:

Consider what may be appropriate. What is the difference between frequent wanted contact and frequent unwanted contact. Consider how Dina is feeling.

Scene 2 - Disclosing

Dina talks to Vanessa about what is happening and how scared she is of her husband. Dina tells Vanessa that Ali is constantly following her and threatening her.

Q 1: What information does someone have about you if they have access to your phone?

Reflection:

Think about what information is on a mobile phone. Consider how this can be protected.

Q 2: How easy do you think it is to track someone?

Reflection:

Consider what the information that is given on phones tell others. Think about, for example, location status, checking in to restaurants, reviewing places, Snap Maps etc.

Q 3: Why do you think Ali is doing this?

Reflection:

Consider what reasons Ali may say he has to be contacting Dina.

Is there a difference if this occurs in an intimate partner relationship, or if it occurs outside an intimate partner relationship?

Think about the tools used (for example, phone, laptop) as well as the gender-based power imbalance that leads to this behaviour (for example, patriarchal structures, husband's 'rights' etc).

Tracking

Scene 3 - Supporting

Vanessa and Dina talk about what help Dina can get. Vanessa gives Dina information on support at work as well as support through a social worker.

Q 1: What impact can tracking have on a person?

Reflection:

Consider how Dina might be feeling - fearful, intimidated, harassed.

Q 2: What can Dina do in this situation?

Reflection:

Consider what rights Dina has in this situation and what laws may protect people around stalking and tracking.
